“They forsook every possession excepting their honour, and set their faces towards the wilderness... to begin, amid untold hardships, life anew under the flag they revered.”

President’s Message
Pat Blackburn UE

It may seem that we, as loyalists, spend our time in the past as far back as 1776-1783. In March we moved up to listening to what was happening on the seas during the War of 1812. Whichever the time period, we are dealing with the same main groups of people, namely, the Indigenous, the Black Loyalists and those people of European descent. By the time of the War of 1812 we are involved with the new United States of America and we are related to many of its citizens.

Through all of the turmoil, our local Indigenous people continued to fight on the side of the King. As we know, many promises were stated by the Government to the Indigenous that have not been kept. The word is getting out and the Truth and Reconciliation Agreement, through discussions should be getting information to the people of Canada and the world. The results of these talks cannot be foretold.

At our April meeting we invited Phil Montour of the Territory of the Six Nations to provide our branch members and the invited public with insight into the outstanding matters affecting the growth of the Indigenous people. There were more visitors than members, some with good questions. We were fortunate to have Neil Switzer contact Jeff Mahoney, reporter for The Spectator, and have an article in the Monday paper of the week of our meeting. We experienced good fellowship at this meeting.

To be good citizens in 2018 there is a need for people to be trained on the latest equipment that may be available in an emergency to provide assistance to others. At the church where we meet, there are two defibrillators but our branch members questioned at the meeting, responded with “no one knew how to operate a defibrillator”. In May ten members became St. John Ambulance trained.

Our work with the community will continue on into June and the summer through Loyalists’ Day at The Hamilton Art Gallery and with special festivals over the summer where we participate together with the community talking to visitors to see our exhibit board.

It is important to give praise to members who are assets to the community. One such Hamilton member is Colin Brown who is a decorated WWII veteran. On June 19 Colin will be presented with a Quilt of Valour for his service to our country. Come to the Art Gallery for this short presentation during Loyalists’ Day.

Please volunteer and come out, giving your time and knowledge to further community interest in loyalist history. I appreciate your input.

Have a fun, safe summer.

Pat Blackburn
2018 Hamilton-Wentworth Heritage Award

Congratulations to Hamilton Branch Genealogist Michele Lewis for many years of service to our branch, helping members research their roots back to the first Loyalist in Upper Canada. This is a challenging position as nearly everyone has difficulty finding proofs for the third generation in Canada. Also the forms have been updated and Michele was one of the advisors during this process.

2018 Ontario Volunteer Awards

Congratulations to Gloria Howard on being recognized for 15 years of continuous service to our branch. Gloria loves dealing with numbers and is always cheerful and good spirited in educating the rest of us in the accounting and budgeting processes. We are very grateful for Gloria’s expertise in these matters.

Quilt of Valour

Colin Brown, WWII veteran will be receiving a Quilt of Valour to mark his service in World War II.

In 2015, Colin Brown was awarded the Knight of the French National Order of the Legion of Honour, the highest national order of France to illustrate the government’s gratitude for his involvement in the liberation of their country.

Quilts of Valour – Canada was founded in 2006 in Edmonton Alberta to acknowledge the significant contributions made by injured Canadian Armed Forces members and veterans.

The quilts are handmade by volunteers, using donated materials. Each quilt features the name, rank, years of service and branch of service the veteran served in.

We are thrilled that Colin Brown will be receiving this special honour during our Loyalist Day ceremonies on June 19th.

Titus Simons by Susan Preston UE

Mark Preston UE certificate recipient

Titus Simons was the third generation of the Simons family in America. He had two children, Titus Gear and Sarah. Titus and his family emigrated to Montreal in 1779.

Better known to us is son, Titus Gear, who while in Niagara was editor and proprietor of the Upper Canada Gazette. While in Niagara he petitioned and received land in West Flamborough.

In 1816 the District of Gore was established and Titus Gear was appointed as Sheriff. He helped form the Burlington Agricultural Society. As an active mason, in 1824 he laid the corner stone of the Ancaster Free Church.

During the War of 1812, Titus Geer Simons held a commission in the 2nd York Regiment. His scabbard and coat are on display at the Military Museum, next to Dundurn Castle.

Jacob Bessey UEL

Submission by Art Quinn UE

Original submission by Andrew Humeniuk posted February 29, 2012

In Wm Smy's Annotated Nominal Roll of Butler's Rangers 1777-1784, Jacob appears as a Private in Butler's Rangers, in Fry's Company. His brother Robert Jr. was also a Private in Fry's Company. Jacob was twenty-seven years old in Nov 1783 and is recorded as drawing rations. From the structure of the list it appears that he was single. He is described as "settled between the Four Mile Creek and the Head of Lake Ontario" in 1785, although his Christian name is given as "James", in this account. However, there is no doubt that this is Jacob, as the name appears immediately behind that of Robert Bessey, his brother.

Jacob Bessey’s land entitlement, in the District of Nassau, in 1792 totalled 400 acres. By Aug 1795 he had received 200 acres of his entitlement and was granted an additional 100 acres to complete his military lands.

Jacob married Elizabeth Slough, who was born in Pennsylvania in 1797. They settled at Homer, in Grantham Township. Their children who petitioned and received land as sons and daughters of a United Empire Loyalist were Mary Catherine, David, John, George and Charlotte.

Phil Montour Speaks on Issues Concerning the Haldimand Tract

Ruth Nicholson UE

I will summarize some of the information that Philip Montour spoke to, during his presentation at our April meeting. He started by saying that we were all “innocents” who were given land to live on by the British after the American Revolution. He stated that our history and circumstances are very similar.

Phil stated that we all live on Turtle Island. This is of course, North America. Read the story of Turtle Island here: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Turtle_Island_(North_America).

Phil was very cordial in dealing with a very tough subject. He said that the earliest history with treaties with Europeans was in 1613, the first treaty with the Dutch. It is the familiar, two row wampum. It represents two vessels going along two paths, one with the Haudenosaunee people and the other with the Dutch people. The paths are parallel, or side by side, both people respecting one another’s ways.

The first relationship with the British was in 1664. It was the Treaty of Tawagonshi. This treaty was between Britain and the New York Mohawks and Senecas. The articles included that no wrong, injury or violence was to be committed against any of the Indigenous tribes named or their subjects and that they were to have all commodities from the English as they had from the Dutch. They were to have free trade as formerly.

The NanFan Treaty of 1701 pertained to the Michigan and Ohio territories and allowed the British to put their forts on these lands.

The Treaty of Utrecht, in 1713, between Great Britain, France and Spain showed the surrender of Acadia to the British and the agreement that the Catholic crowns of France and Spain could not unite. It was agreed between Britain and France that the Five Nations specifically would not be molested between the areas of Lakes Ontario, Erie and Huron and that the natives would be free to promote trade with the British and the French without hindrance.

The Royal Proclamation of 1763 was to protect all Indigenous lands against further invasion by the European settlers. This was the first piece of legislation.

Next came the American Revolution (1776-1783) and the making of the Silver Covenant Chain. Here it is understood that the Five Nations hold one end of the chain and that the King holds the other end. With a pull of the belt or chain, one side would help the other.

The Treaty of Paris was signed in 1783. It was to be understood that the Indigenous people were allies of the King and not subjects. The King did not have the right to give away our lands after the American Revolution.

The Confederacy split. Some parts of the Five Nations stayed in the Colony of New York and others came up to the Haldimand Tract.

Through the Trail of Tears the Indigenous people were pushed out west to Oklahoma. Their homes and crops were burned.

Today we have the Truth and Reconciliation Commission with calls for 94 actions to take place.

In looking at an acknowledgement at the beginning of meetings, Phil pointed out that the original Indigenous people in this area of southern Ontario were the Erie, the Neutral and the Tobacco.

Phil has helped us create an acknowledgement statement that can be read at our meetings. It is as follows:

“I would like to acknowledge that the land on which we gather is situated upon traditional territories of the Erie, Neutral, Huron-Wyandot, the Haudenosaunee, and the Mississauga of the New Credit First Nations. The territory is mutually covered by the Dish With One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement between the Iroquois Confederacy and the Ojibway and other allied nations to peacefully share and care for the resources around the Great Lakes. Today, this is still the home to many Indigenous people from across Turtle Island.

Phil explained that many parcels of the Haldimand Tract had a complicated history of being rented and the Haudensaeue people never receiving the rent. One holding company in London England actually helped track down old documents related to this property. However, any monies received were never sent to the Keepers of the Land.

Phil was asked how he saw reconciliation coming about and he stated that education was a key component. He said that it is thought that all on the Six Nations are granted free education but that is not the case. He is also worried about the farming people who have no pension when they age and that is the case with all independent business people and farmers in Canada. It is always a concern. Phil did say that they are not after a lump sum of money.

I hope I have been able to give you a small sampling of what was presented by Phil Montour to us and how complex the topic is for all.
A good showing of Loyalists attended this special anniversary celebration that took place on Saturday, May 26th. President Carol Childs stated that she felt nervous speaking to more than the usual crowd of fifteen. Carol is so humble!

Carol’s husband, Greg Childs gave a short visual presentation on the history of the branch. Greg has a way of adding flair and decorum to whatever he does. I enjoyed working with Greg and Carol in the lead up to the 2017 Dominion conference that was held in London. That’s part of the fun of being Dominion Conference chair!

The London branch had never had a lot of money to give honours that were due to their past presidents. A bit of money was made from last year’s conference and this was their primary initiative: past president pins for their past presidents! Those present who received their awards were: Arnold Nethercott, Bob Tordiff, Bernice Flett, Ken Fitchett, June Klassen and Jennifer Childs. Jean Norry was very ill and in hospital so her pin was given to her last week and she wrote a wonderful thank-you note that was read to all present. She penned it the day before she died. How significant that she did receive her pin! Past president Jane Hughes was absent but otherwise all were in attendance and I must admit my surprise at knowing five out of the eight honourees. A beautiful cake had been crafted for this occasion.

All enjoyed a plentiful lunch together and then eleven certificates were handed out by the branch genealogist, Mary Lucas. I was told that Mary is great at finding those elusive proofs! Dominion Senior Vice President, Sue Hines gave a brief presentation on Membership and how we, the people are the most important element of each Branch.

The keynote speaker was Karen Richardson, curator of the Haldimand County Museum and Archives, in Cayuga. http://www.haldimandcounty.on.ca/residents.aspx?id=150 Karen had many of her own researched stories to tell. The central focus was on the Heritage Minutes that were filmed and produced by Lock3 Media in Brantford, for the Canada 150. They tell the history of the area and are polished and just as good as any seen on television. The topics are: Haldimand Battalion, RCAF #6, Robertson Screwwinder, John Brant, William Lyon Mackenzie, Helen Kinnear and the United Empire Loyalists. The link to see them is:

Lost British Forts of Long Island
by David M. Griffin

David Griffin is the brother of Dan WJJT Griffin UE – Co-President of the Bicentennial Branch UELAC. David is a professionally trained architect, educated in Ottawa who now lives on the north shore of Long Island, New York. He is an architectural historian and researcher who is passionate about the early forts and homes of Long Island.

The summary on the back of the book states: “When the Revolutionary War broke out and New York City had fallen in 1776, the forces of the king of Great Britain developed a network of forts along the length of Long Island to defend the New York area and create a front to Patriot forces across the Sound in Connecticut. Fort Franklin on Lloyd’s Neck became a refugee camp for Loyalists and saw frequent rebel attacks. In Huntington, a sacred burial ground was desecrated and Fort Golgotha was erected in its place, using tombstones as baking hearths. In Setauket along the northern shore, the Presbyterian Church was commandeered and made the central fortified structure of the town. Author David M. Griffin uncovers the lost history and harrowing stories of Long Island’s British forts.”

David goes to each site and takes photos of the area, as it looks today. These photos are compared to historical maps and diagrams from area archives. The book is a real treat to read and browse through. I highly recommend it.
